Artist Reynard To Give Lecture On Modern Art

Jack Morpurgo, W & M Alumnus, To Discuss Literature Of England

By JODY FELIX

Grant Reynard, artist, will speak on "Modern Art" on Monday, Oct. 20, at 8 p. m. in Phi Beta Kappa hall.

The first in a series of lectures sponsored by the faculty committee on lectures, art and music, Reynard's talk will be illustrated with slides. Accompanying the lecture there will be an exhibit of the college's collection of samples of modern art.

On Tuesday, Oct. 21, Reynard will give a demonstration and discussion of painting in oil and water color, selecting his subjects from campus life. This event will be held in Phi Beta Kappa hall at 8 p. m.

W&M Alumnus

A William and Mary alumnus, Jack E. Morpurgo, will be the next speaker in the series. The editor of Penguin Parade, Morpurgo will lecture on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 22 and 23. For his first lecture, Morpurgo has chosen as his topic "Charles Lamb's School Days." The topic of the Thursday night lecture will be "Post-War Literature in England."

Reynard, a native of Nebraska, received his training in Chicago at the Art Institute and the Academy of Fine Arts and through study in art centers in Europe. His paintings are found in the collections of the Metropolitan Museum, Fogg Museum, New York Public Library, Newark Art Museum, New Jersey State Museum and the Library of Congress.

Native of England

Morpurgo, who was graduated from the college in 1938, is a native of England. During World War II, he served as a major in the Royal Artillery in Iran, Egypt, Africa, and Italy. Morpurgo once secured for the college a collection of the papers of Lord Dunmore. Some of these were presented to the late John Stewart Bryan, former president of the college. The remainder have been in storage in London and will be delivered to the college during Morpurgo's visit here.

Greyhound To Run Buses To VPI Game In Richmond

Special buses for the William and Mary-VPI football game in Richmond on Saturday, Oct. 11, will leave the bus terminal between 11:30 a. m. and noon, officials of the Greyhound Bus company have announced.

Tickets for these buses, which will leave the terminal as they are filled, may be purchased at the Greyhound ticket office on or before Friday, Oct. 10, for $2.07. Students taking a special bus to the game may return on any of the regularly-scheduled buses.

Eight Faculty Members Attend MIT Conference

William and Mary, the only southern college or university selected to participate, sent eight representatives to the conference on the combined plan of study with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, held in Boston last week.

Those attending the conference, which began Thursday and ended Saturday, were J. Wilfred Lambert, dean of students; Dr. William G. Guy, chairman of the chemistry department; Dr. Harold L. Fowler, professor of history; Dr. Fraser Neiman, associate professor of English; Dr. John M. Stetson, chairman of the mathematics department; Dr. Charles F. Marsh, chairman of the department of business administration; John E. Hocutt, dean of men, and Dr. Robert L. Mooney, chairman of the physics department.

The combined plan of study allows students to meet the requirements for both a B.S. and an

M.S. degree by studying for three years at a liberal arts college and for two years at M.I.T. Other colleges participating in the plan are Amherst College, Bowdoin College, Miami University of Ohio, Middlebury College, Ohio Wesleyan University, Reed College, Ripon College, St. Lawrence University, Washington and Jefferson College, Williams College and the College of Wooster.

A welcoming dinner was held for the conferees on Thursday, Oct. 2. Personnel of the M.I.T. faculty spoke on the background and problems of the combined plan and on liberal and technological educations.

On Friday, Oct. 3, discussions of the humanities program, the extracurricular activities and the social environment at M.I.T. were held. Conferences on selected professional fields were held on Saturday, Oct. 4.

Women To Elect WSG Officers At Polls In Dorms

Women students will go to the polls tomorrow from 4 to 6 p. m. in the large dormitories to elect WSCGA freshman officers.

Nominations for the offices were made from the floor at the WSCGA meeting held last night in Phi Beta Kappa hall. Virginia Lee Lynch and Jerry Anne Tuttle were nominated for the office of freshman representative to the executive council. The senior nominating committee had previously announced the candidacy of Elizabeth June Mercer and Sarah Virginia Enos.

Nominees for freshman representative to the judicial committee are Sallie Lucretia Ross and Mary Gay Rife. Jean Claire Murphy and Elizabeth Bryant Graves were nominated by the senior nominating committee.

Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, assistant dean of women, welcomed the women students. Stressing the need for participation in student government by every student, Miss Wynne-Roberts declared, "Ideas are impotent without the techniques to put them across."

A motion, suggesting that a separate line for milk and sandwiches be made in the cafeteria during the lunch hour, was made by Jean Morgan and passed by the women students. The budget for the year, including an amendment granting $50 to the cheerleaders, was accepted by the students.

C&O Schedules Special Express

Tickets for the special Chesapeake and Ohio train which will carry students to the William and Mary-VPI football game at Richmond's City Stadium on Saturday, Oct. 11, will be on sale for $1.73 in the second-floor corridor of the Wren building from 10 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. on Friday, Oct. 10.

Tickets for the special, which will leave Williamsburg at 9:30 a. m., may also be purchased at the railroad station from now until Saturday. The train will begin its return trip from Richmond's Main Street station at 9 p. m.

If enough students make use of the special another will be run on Thanksgiving Day for the annual contest with the University of Richmond.

UNC Ticket Sales To Begin Thursday

Because of the anticipated rush for student tickets for the game with the University of North Carolina on Nov. 18, W. S. (Pappy) Gooch, business manager of athletics, has announced that the ticket office in Blow gymnasium will be open Thursday, Oct. 9, between 7:30 and 9 p. m.

"This will make possible easier procurement of ducats by the students, and will lessen the burden on the ticket office before the big game," Gooch stated.

Popular Leader To Make Seventh Appearance Here

By ED GRIFFIN

Once again the strains of Moon Over Miami will fill Blow gymnasium during the annual Homecoming celebration on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 7 and 8, heralding the return of Dean Hudson and his sidemen who will be making their seventh appearance at a William and Mary formal.

Friday night's formal dance will be held from 9 p. m. until 2 a. m., while Saturday's informal affair will begin at 9 p. m. and end at midnight. There will be no afternoon concert such as those which are usually presented at Finals because of the Homecoming game with VMI which will be played at Cary Field on Saturday.

Aides To Meet

Ticket prices have not yet been decided by the President's aides, sponsors of the dances. They will meet tomorrow at 7 p. m. in the office of John E. Hocutt, dean of men, to appoint committees for ticket sales, decorations and publicity. The results of the meeting will be announced in next week's FLAT HAT.

Hudson's last visit to William and Mary occurred in March of 1945 when his band played for that year's spring dances. He was also here in the "fabulous" season of '42 and his organization has furnished the entertainment for three other week ends since its initial stand in 1937.

The band consists of five saxes, four trombones, four trumpets, piano, bass and drums. The arranging is done by Dick Rhodes, formerly with Tony Pastor and Johnny Johnston, and Frank Zattola, who used to be an important part of Claude Thornhill's aggregation. Featured on trumpet is George Nowlan, while Sal Dotore plays lead alto and doubles on clarinet.

'45 Performers

When Hudson gave his '45 performances here Buddy Balbo was one of his tenor sax men and Max Smith occupied a trombone chair, while Mike D'Aquino played a fast set of drums. Whether they have remained with him is unknown but he still has such music.

College To Give Graduate Exams

"Immediate registration for the two graduate examinations scheduled for this month is urged for senior students planning to enter graduate school in 1948," declared Richard B. Brooks, director of Counseling.

All students who wish to take the graduate record test must apply on or before noon on Thursday, Oct. 9, at the counseling office in Washington 213. This examination, which will be conducted in two parts on Monday, Oct. 27, from 1 to 5 p. m., and on Tuesday, Oct. 28, from 8:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., will be given to every applicant for graduate work except those entering the medical field.

For graduates planning to specialize in medicine, the medical aptitude test will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 25, from 8:45 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. Registration for this examination will end on Saturday, Oct. 18.

College Lifts Bans On Student Laundry

Curtailments placed on the volume of laundry to be sent by the individual student have been lifted, according to Charles J. Duke, Jr., bursar of the college.

"Satisfactory arrangements with a commercial laundry have been made," Duke declared. Surplus laundry, which cannot be handled by the college laundry will be taken care of as a result of this new arrangement.

Members of the faculty and the student body will no longer be limited in the amount of laundry they may send. Because of the increased costs involved in sending laundry off campus, certain fees have been raised. The student laundry fee however, will remain the same.

Backdrop Club Invites Newcomers To Meeting

The Backdrop club will hold its first organizational meeting of the year in Phi Beta Kappa hall on Thursday, Oct. 9, at 7:30 p. m.

"Those who wish to join the club are urged to attend the gathering which will feature a number of songs and routines from the last varsity show, 'The Heat's On.' Newcomers will be admitted to membership at the meeting," stated Ronnie King, president.

Pictures of the last production will be exhibited and refreshments will be served on the stage.

"Students who wish to take an active part in the production of the next show should be on hand for the meeting, since future plans will be formulated on the basis of the people who turn out for the initial conclave," King declared.

Participate!

Participation by men in extra-curricular activities this year has been very noticeably lacking. Various organizations have held try-out meetings inviting new members, but thus far, with the exception of the Choir, very few men have made any effort to get into any activities.

We remember the war years at the college when the women were at the head of practically every organization on campus. But now that the war is over we expected that the men would get back into things. Thus far, they haven't.

The veterans argue that they don't have the time to participate, but hardly any of the veterans are taking such heavy loads that they don't have the time. Naturally the married men won't have the time, but the percentage of married men on this campus is terrifically small.

We think the case of the band makes a very good example. Many students with musical talent attend this school, and a mere handful turned up for band try-outs. A good many members of the band wouldn't be playing if there wasn't a college policy which states that members of the jazz orchestra must play in the band. We feel truly sorry for the men who are governed by that policy, but rules are rules.

Nevertheless, something is drastically wrong when men won't take any interest whatsoever in organizations. We sincerely urge the men and the fraternities to take stock of the situation and do something about it.

Homecoming

It has been suggested that only sororities, fraternities and classes enter floats for the Homecoming parade, and after reminiscing about last year's parade we are in agreement with the proposal.

Last year, when so many floats were made, many individuals worked on as many as three floats, which was entirely too much for them to do efficiently. We do not mean that the parade was not a good one, but perhaps with just the aforementioned organizations participating the floats will be better and things will be done more efficiently as a whole.

The proposal came out of a meeting of all the class presidents on Tuesday, Sept. 30. With the fraternities, sororities and classes participating there will be 24 floats, but any organization which feels it can make a float will be urged to do so under the present plan.

'46 Class President Claims

School Spirit Is Sad

To the Student Body:

Perhaps it's just a hang-over from college days that I feel the inclination to do a little griping again; or maybe it's just the urge to write for The FLAT HAT once more. Nevertheless, there are a few conditions that could be improved upon.

For example, the pep rally on Friday night. Alumni return not only to visit and recall old memories, but also, in a small way, to get back in the college spirit. But this was somewhat of a let-down. No bon-fire rally, only a meeting in Phi Beta where only a minimum of enthusiasm can be obtained. However, Friday night we had the so-called "pep" and no team; Saturday we had the team but no pep! The two automatically go together just like William and Mary, and one is dependent upon the other. The primary purpose of a rally is to show the team we are really behind them, but neither they nor the coach were interested enough to show up! That was certainly a slap in the face to the student body, especially the night before the first home game. Aside from that, the meeting was poorly organized by those in charge. And even at the game the students showed no great amount of spirit. How can new students get that old college enthusiasm if the upper-classmen don't show any more interest?

In some ways there seems to be a general lack of interest in real campus life and activities. Some- where on our list of reasons why we came to college we can find the statement, "To get an education." True, the greater part of that is to be acquired in the class- room; but it is also true that much of our education can never be found in the books. Why not take advantage of the many opportunities that lie before you instead of just putting in time? The reputa- tion of the college lies largely in the hands of the students and that reputation follows you long after student days are over.

Sometimes it's hard for students to realize what a privilege it is to be part of William and Mary. But you will find, once you join the ranks of the Alumni, that there is a great feeling of satisfaction and pride in being able to say you are a graduate of William and Mary. The College has an outstanding reputation—let's keep it! I'm thoroughly convinced that—equals we have some—superiors we have none!

We can all be proud to claim William and Mary, but how proud is William and Mary to claim us?

Nancy J. Grube,
President, Class of '46.

Ronald King's

William and Mary-Go-Round

To those who peruse this col- umn in lieu of reading Famous Funnies, humble apologies for stepping out of character at this time.

Last week's Go-Round, in which we again journeyed into the realm of nonsense, has been the subject of mild controversy on campus. It seems that a number of students found Agamemnon easier reading than the column, while others commented that the paragraphs had brought forth a few chuckles.

There are, of course, some stu- dents who don't care what goes into The FLAT HAT so long as it maintains its present format which is rather convenient for lining bureau drawers. Fortunately, many of the readers have definite ideas as to what they would like to see in the college paper.

The editors keep a constant vigil to insure that all subject-matter conforms with their sadistic jour- nalistic policies; but in the case of the Mary-Go-Round they have given this kid the reins.

What shall he do with them? (Please . . . no punch lines . . . this is serious!)

Do the readers enjoy the mad, incongruous patter such as that which appeared in last week's effort? Was it snobbish to use words with more than two syl- lables? Does this type of insane prose interest most of the stu- dents?

It has been suggested that the column be employed as an instru- ment for crusading, for airing current campus problems (some of them need airing). Is that what the folks want?

Your correspondent will publish the listings of the New York Stock Exchange, or review batting aver- ages in the Chickahominy League, or reveal infamous information about faculty members - - - what- ever the wish of the readers-at- large.

With all sincerity, your boy would like to know if his weekly opus, as it is, merits student read- ership. If not, what kind of col- umn should it be?

Drop a line to the lad via The FLAT HAT. Letters need not be signed, but those containing ob- scenities will be traced to the au- thors.

Backdrop Comments

Comes now a plug for the Back- drop Club, the campus outfit which knocks itself out on one project, namely the Varsity Show. The show, for the benefit of the uninitiated, is an annual musical comedy with original script and score, written, produced, acted, di- rected, and generally thrown to- gether by ye younge scholars at Williams and Marys.

Handicapped by the unfortunate election of an incompetent presi- dent-producer, the club needs mucho supporto from a consider- able percentage of the student body to make this year's show the superextravaganza that the thea- trical wheels intend it to be.

Freshmen and other newcomers to the Burg will want to trip over to Phi Beta on Thursday at 7:30 for the first brawl of the year. Some of the songs from last year's smash, "The Heat's On," will be done by the original members of the cast, and pictures of the show will be on display. The club, known for its lavish parties, has settled for doughnuts and Pepsis for this shindig in view of the large number expected to attend.

The show needs talent on both sides of the curtain. If one can sing, act, dance, paint scenery, or maul one's thumb with a hammer, one should offer one's aid at the opening session.

Cheer, Cheer . . .

As we write this copy, our ears are filled with tumult which is obviously emanating from the football stadium. Matthew Wha- ley is, no doubt, slaughtering the boys from Deep Creek. What caught our fancy is the fact that their cheers, hoots and squeals must be putting a lot of life into the Williamsburg lads now on the playing field.

It's a shame that these kids, with vocal chords less well developed than those of the average college student, make our cheering section sound like a seance by comparison.

True, our many years have rendered us mature and settled; but let's surprise the cheerleaders by giving the old pharynx a workout at the rallies and games. If any cases of busted blood vessels arise, the deans will excuse the spirited students from classes until they recover.

President's Aides, Dance Committee

We're confused.

Last week when our esteemed editor took up the well-known cudgel against the passive Presi- dent's aides we decided that a little "investigation" was in order. It has long been hazy in our minds just how the dances manage to get put on and where the money goes and comes from.

This much we knew: there isa dance committee, the President's aides swing the three big dances of the year, and the finances are handled through the auditor's office. With that meager infor- mation we open-mindedly began the "investigation," which is, in reality, a matter of milling around the first floor of Marshall-Wythe and conferring with sundry ad- ministration officers.

What we found out from that milling around we feel you should know, and, more important, you should know what we didn't find out. And right here and now, before those eager souls who do read this page begin raving about a little "constructive criticism," let us say that this is going to take several columns to uncover. So bear with us.

The Saturday night dances are handled by a dance committee which is composed of both faculty and student members. Mr. Alan Stewart, chairman, had the thank- less job of running the show last year. The student end seemed to flake out. While we do appreciate all Mr. Stewart did for us, it is not right for one person to take so much responsibility.

So far, there have been several appointments made to the commit- tee by Mr. Stewart and several more will be made by our student government (?) in the near future. No one seems to know of a pro- vision for the establishment of this committee. So far this year Mr. Stewart has put on the weekly dances.

We then launched forth to find out about that rather ephemeral body known as the President's Aides. We nabbed a couple in the cafeteria line and gently ques- tioned their duties and responsi- bilities. The response was a you- name-it-expression. And right- fully so, because as a member of the administration put it, they have no prescribed duties, the position is an honorary one - - - a moot point, in our opinion. Ac- tually their fare amounts to the homecoming dance, midwinters and the June Ball to sponsor. Where the authority comes from we were unable to find out.

We'd say the President's aides have been the butt of unjustified criticism this year. They have eight holdovers from last year, as compared with 18 that held sway during the 1946-47 session. The chief aide was disappointed as of Monday, and no one knew exactly what was expected of him, or when. Such tardiness in ap- pointing the Aides would be un- understandable were it not for the fact that plans are now in an em- bryonic stage of progress for Homecomings. And the Aides have charge of the dances.

One remaining pertinent factor loomed large. Finances. From Bursar Duke, who clutches the purse-strings of the College, we learned that there is a dance "fund" handled through the Audi- tor's office. Auditor Nunn en- lightened us to the extent that this "fund" is a running account, never closed, and contains moneys from all dances. The condition of that account was not immediately re- lease-able nor do the organizations in question know of its status. They were quick to tell us, how- ever, that we've "tripped the light fantastic" into the red side of the ledger.

So that's the situation. A dance committee thrown together seem- ingly at will, the President's Aides who sponsor the big dances of the year, but have no prescribed duties, and a running dance "fund" that is currently a ques- tion mark.

May we repeat? We're con- fused.

Coming next week: double fea- ture attraction, "Further 'Fund' Findings" and "Constructive Criti- cism."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor,

It has been called to my atten- tion that there is a lack of school spirit or faculty spirit on the part of women students or women phy- sical education teachers in the field of varsity sports.

There are many questions which could be asked concerning the lack of interest in varsity sports this year. Why is it that girls who played varsity hockey for two years suddenly decide, individual- ly, to quit the team? If only one or two girls dropped off the team it would be understandable and logical. But when we lose a team of eleven girls who worked to- gether three days a week for the period of two years, we wonder if there is a hidden reason confront- ing us.

Is there something wrong with the coach and the coaching staff? Is there inefficiency on their part? There is more than one eyebrow going up in amazement that a school like William and Mary can- not train perfectly normal girls for superior sportsmanship.

Sincerely,

Name Withheld By Request.

Braves Face Gobblers In Important 'Big Six' Clash

Tribe Seeks Third S.C. Win Against T-Minded VPI Eleven

Flashy, intricate razzle-dazzle football runs headlong into a brand of tried-and-true power pigskin play when the Gobblers of Virginia Tech, hungry for revenge for their 49-0 scalping at the Reservation last year, face William and Mary in Richmond's City stadium Saturday at 2:30 p. m. VPI will be the first "Big Six" foe of 1947 for the Redmen.

Using their "T" formation to a greater extent than in 1946, Coach Jimmy Kitts and his team which includes 27 lettermen from last year's team, would like nothing better than to throw a monkey wrench into the Tribe machine and cut down Indians' state and Southern conference title chances.

At any rate, the Gobblers can be counted on to throw plenty of passes in an effort to avenge the stinging defeat to their Sun Bowl team which had tied North Carolina before facing the Big Green.

Beard A Threat

VPI boasts such offensive threats as Ralph Beard, injured halfback who has returned to the team, and freshman standout Sterling Wingo, of Richmond, who was chosen Southern conference Freshman of the Week for his performance on Sept. 27. A team of 10 lettermen is expected to start for the Blacksburg school, and a number of excellent freshmen may see action against the Indians.

William and Mary will likely be without the services of Bill Safko, who worked up to a starting berth at guard and then injured his back in a scrimmage session last week following the Davidson game. Otherwise the squad is in good shape with only a few bruises resulting from the game with The Citadel.

Korcowski Starts

About the same lineup as Coach R. N. (Rube) McCray used in his two earlier games will probably start against the "T" conscious Techmen. Included in this lineup is Little Tommy Korcowski, who started the rout last year with a 50 yard touchdown run and an 80-yard pass play for a score on the first two William and Mary plays from scrimmage.

Co-Captain Bob Steckroth and Ralph Sazio will lead the Tribe while Guard Bill Barbour and Fullback Bob Smith combine to captain VPI.

Tech will send out a squad with a weight advantage of a couple of pounds to the man in the line, and a larger edge of some eight pounds in the backfield. Saturday's game will be one of the most significant contests of the Virginia "Big Six" race.

Stadium To Have Greater Capacity

New bleachers seating some 3,000 persons are being constructed at the east end of the football field, directly behind the goal posts. They are to be permanent, and will increase the seating capacity of Cary stadium to around 17,000.

Other work being done at the stadium includes refinishing the seats. Workers have been busy the past week scraping off the weatherbeaten tops of the wooden seats, making them cleaner and more comfortable. Numbers will be repainted on them.

Since several of the games to be played here this fall are expected to be sellouts, an effort is being made to have available as many seats as possible for those who wish to attend.

150 Will Play In Net 'Murals

The big rush in tennis intramurals has started, with some 150 entrants signed up to battle for the championship of the school, Howard Smith, director of intramurals has announced.

First-round matches should be played by Oct. 15, Smith said, with the next round slated for completion by Oct. 21.

Because of the time of year and the large number of participants in both men's and women's play, entrants were urged to get their matches played as soon as possible. Men's matches should be played from 8 till 11 a. m. and 1 till 4 p. m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, between 8 and 11 a. m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturday and Sundays.

Courts which are to be used are the back four of the main block of 12, and the six lower courts. The first two rows of four courts are reserved for practice of the men's and women's varsity teams.

RALPH BEARD, flashy Virginia Tech back, returns to the VPI lineup when the Gobblers engage William and Mary in Richmond's City stadium Saturday afternoon.

Inn Course Closes Operation For Month

The Williamsburg Inn Golf course will be closed for the entire month of October, according to Dusty Ash, assistant to the pro. The course, now being completely fertilized and reseeded, will reopen Nov. 1.

Ash requested all students who have their clubs stored in the reserved racks at the golf shop to call for them as soon as possible. In the event that any student does not desire use of his or her clubs during the coming month the clubs may continue to be stored at the Golf shop.

JACK CLOUD, all-Southern conference fullback bucks through for a 13 yard gain in the picture at top, while Tom Mikula scores below in first-period plays in the game with The Citadel Saturday. Mikula had taken a pass from Tommy Korcowski for an early Tribe score. The Indians won, 56-7.

SMOKE SIGNALS

By BILL GREER

The first two games played by the William and Mary football team this fall proved conclusively the value of downfield blocking by showing what can happen when it is absent, as in the Davidson tussle when Coach McCray's team had to hustle in the second half for their touchdowns, and when it is present, as in the game with The Citadel, when touchdowns come apparently at will.

Men like Korcowski and Cloud do not need every man on the opposition on the ground to score with their long runs—they just need part of them out of the play. Tommy showed Saturday that he could dodge with great skill, while Cloud makes a practice of running over a good percentage of the men who get in his way.

Good runners, such as these men, make blocking considerably easier by being on the right side of the blocker when the block is thrown, and by leading the would-be tacklers into position so they can be taken out of the play. A good example of a ball-carrier setting up a block came in the Citadel game when Korcowski broke loose on one of his long runs, which this time happened to be called back. When he had weaved his way into the clear, he saw two rapidly-approaching defensive men about to catch him. He took a route nearly parallel to the yard markers and one of the blockers quickly relieved the tackler of his balance and left an open field for the Tribe scatback.

If the team continues to give good downfield blocking and team play, or comes through with some near-perfect performances like VPI experienced last year, there will be no team in the South capable of defeating that Big Green eleven. And that means North Carolina.

The next three conference games will tell the tale of the gridiron fame or failure of the team from the Reservation this fall. Strong VPI eleven is Saturday's foe, North Carolina comes to Williamsburg for the conference feature of the year the following week and Wake Forest's Demon Deacons invade Virginia, Nov. 1.

Any of these teams stand a better-than-fair chance of knocking off the Green, Gold and Silver team and setting itself as a conference threat in place of the Braves.

But today, the Indians are sitting atop the heap in the Southern conference, and we believe they have what it takes to stay there until the close of the season.

William And Mary Line

It is regrettable that no more recognition has been given the William and Mary forward wall in print than it has received this year. Rather than saying "a W&M back went through a big hole opened up by Sazio and Ramsey," or by Caughron and Steckroth or any of the linemen, the usual story goes, "Cloud found a hole and went over standing up" or some other similar way.

From end to end one can go far before finding a better frontal attack than the one offered by the Braves. The line that can push William and Mary's around is not to be found in collegiate grid circles this year. With Steckroth and Hoitsma at the flanks, Red Caughron and Ralph Sazio at the tackles, Knox Ramsey and Jim McDowell or Bill Safko at guards and center Tommy Thompson, Line Coach Marvin Bass has one of the finest lines the school has ever produced.

Probably the only one as strong in all positions was the line of the 1942 conference championship eleven. Both were great lines, and both would be hard to top at any time.

Pigskin Picking

Not satisfied to quit when we're winning and take our marbles home, we will stick our necks out this week in another effort to peer into the never-never land of next Saturday's football games where we find:

Indians Scalp Citadel Team, Win By 56-7

Coach Rube McCray's William and Mary Indians showed their teeth, their tomahawks and a few other things as they opened their 1947 home schedule with a resounding 56-7 verdict over the Bulldogs of The Citadel to assume leadership of the Southern Conference last Saturday.

It was Tommy Korcowski who sparked the Tribe's offense, but it was fine team play by the line and the rest of the backs that gave the visitors little chance from the start. The team looked much better Saturday than earlier, getting better downfield blocking, better timing and, consequently, a smoother offense.

The Braves scored on the seventh play of the game as Korcowski went over from the four after breaking away on a 47-yard sprint to the six a couple of plays earlier. Stan Magdziak, who has not missed an extra point this year, booted the conversion and every other point after touchdown of the week except the last one.

Blanc Intercepts

Hank Blanc intercepted a pass from Luke Dunfee a few plays later to set up the second W&M score. Korcowski broke away on a long jaunt which was called back, and a few plays later, Magdziak passed to Blocking Back Tom Mikula on a 23-yard scoring play. The third score was made possible by a 48-yard pass from Magdziak to Co-Captain Bob Steckroth to put the ball on the six. Three plays later, Jack Cloud bucked over from the one.

After a bad Citadel punt had gone out on that team's 35, Reserve Tailback Buddy Lex led a drive for the fourth touchdown. He carried the ball over from the eight, and the score was 28-0 at halftime.

Korcowski Again

Korcowski started the fireworks early in the third period with a 40-yard pass play to Henry Blanc which put the oval on the Citadel five-yard stripe. Tommy went off tackle for the score on the next play. A few minutes later, Korcowski passed 55 yards to Bob Steckroth on the goal line for the marker. At this point, midway in the third chapter, the first team retired for the afternoon.

Later in the quarter, Lex passed to Magdziak for a score and Stan kicked his seventh extra point of the day. Don Howren ended the

Cagers To Begin Drills Monday; Wilson Expects Large Turnout

Basketball practices three nights each week start Monday, Oct. 13, at 7:30. Coach Barney Wilson has announced, adding that he expected a fairly large turnout of men but did not know too much about his material this year.

Because of the many things to be done during football season, the nights may vary from week to week, and the football players will be unable to attend practice until after Thanksgiving. Buddy Lex, Dick Hungerford and others are the cagers who play football.

Wilson, who will be assisted by Al Vandeweghe, said that "the boys have a good attitude and mean business" this year. He stated that early practices would be concerned with the fundamentals of the game, including such elementary points as shooting, passing and the like. A half dozen new goals are to be erected in the gymnasium so the players can get more practice shooting.

A number of players, both veterans from last year's team and freshmen in school, have been working out in the afternoons, and a number of likely looking prospects have been noted.

Those who have been working out include Chester Giermak, ace center from the 1947 team; Charlie Teach and Johnny Green, both regulars on the same outfit; Marvin Atkins, who played last season; Freshman Bob McMillan, an excellent high school hoopster from Tennessee; Paul Webb of Petersburg; Buck Billingsly, of Middlesboro, Ky.; and Sophomore Ken Morton, a six-foot, six-incher.

These men, with some others like Forward Charlie Sokol and some of those who have not been drilling daily, will give Coach Wilson ample material to work with and to choose from in preparation for his initial game on Dec. 5.

Varsity Club Plans Dance In November

President Ralph Sazio of the Varsity club announced that his organization would not disband during football season as had been considered, but that it would continue its meetings the second and fourth Tuesday nights of each month.

A social event in the form of a dance is planned just after the end of the football season, Nov. 28, if it can be arranged.

Officers besides Sazio are Tommy Thompson, vice-president; Jack Hoey, secretary; Bob Gallo-way, treasurer; and Tom Mikula, chairman of committees.

INDIAN BLOCKING BACK Tom Mikula (above) is one of the standouts of the William and Mary team, calling signals from his quarterback post. He first started out as a guard at William and Mary, but shifted to the backfield during the 1944 campaign.

Tom Mikula Calls Plays For Braves

The field general of the William and Mary gridiron team is Thomas Mikula, from Johnstown, Pa., who is a regular starter in the blocking back slot, and calls the plays when the team is on the offense.

Tom is another one of the men who has shifted from one position to the other. When he came here in 1943 from Johnstown Central high school he played as a guard, but midway through the 1944 season he went into the backfield.

He was captain-elect of the 1945 squad, but left for the services in March, 1945. He served in the Air Forces, being stationed at Keesler Field, Miss., for some time. His discharge came through in December of 1945, and he returned to the College the following February.

The statistics on the 1947 squad roster opposite Tom's name read: 20 years of age, 5 feet, 10 inches, 190 pounds, and a senior at college. For his 1946 efforts on the field of battle he was named on the All-State second team and given honorable mention on the All-Southern.

Mikula is a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is also president of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary leadership fraternity. He is a math major, and plans to go into teaching after his graduation in June.

As much as the Big Green will miss Tom next year, they have two other good blocking backs to take his place, George (Sonny) Davis, a 19-year old junior from Hopewell, Va., and Leon Goodlow, brother of Bill Goodlow, from West Deer High School in Curtisville, Pa.

Right behind Tom Mikula is another senior, Jack Hoey, from Murrysville, Pa. Coming from Clairton High, Jack is a senior at the College. He stands 5 feet, 10 inches, weighs 180 pounds, and is 20 years old.

All in all, the Tribe is set at the blocking back position for the season.

Kappa, Theta, Kappa Delta, Lead In Tennis

After the first week of play in the co-ed tennis intramurals, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Theta and Kappa Delta lead their respective leagues each with a six point total.

Theta started their victory roll by defeating Chandler and Phi Mu on successive days. Hinman and Robb won their singles and doubles assignments against Blake and Schwab for Theta's first triumph; then revamped their lineup as Littlefield and McNabb easily scored over Martin and Hayes of Phi Mu.

McLaughlin and Obitz defeated Arnold and Allenbaugh 6-0 and 6-2 respectively for KD over Pi Phi, putting themselves in a first place tie with Theta for League B honors. KD also defeated Gamma Phi 3-0.

In League A Kappa posted wins over Jefferson and Chi O by two 3-0 scores. Spenser and Morgan blanked Jefferson without the loss of a game in three sets.

Second team standings are headed by KD, Chi O, and Theta each with 6 points. Kappa leads the third teams with 5 matches won.

By mutual agreement five members of last years co-ed varsity tennis team decided not to compete in the intramurals after the varsity ruling had been waived by the WAA this year.

The remaining schedule of play this week follows:

- Thursday, October 9
- League A (3:45 on lower courts)
- Tri Delt vs Kappa
 - Chi O vs Alpha Chi
 - Chandler 3 vs Kappa 3
- League B (3:45 on upper courts)
- Chandler vs Kappa Delta
 - Gamma Phi vs Theta
 - Phi Mu vs Pi Phi

BILL SAFKO, who has had more than his share of tough luck, missed the game with The Citadel last week because of a wrenched back suffered in a scrimmage earlier in the week. Whether he will play this week is doubtful, but his fine play in the early practices and first game assure his presence in the lineup much of the time.

Diminutive Dance Instructor Finds Students Enthusiastic

By BETTY COUMBE

Blanche Duffy, the petite new Modern Dance instructor in the Women's Physical Education department, opened her interview with a rather remarkable statement—"I am interested in almost anything anybody else is interest-

Samba and South American rhythms to their own dances.

Miss Duffy has been tutored by a select group of great masters of the Modern Dance style, among them Hanya Holm, Martha Graham, and Charles Weidman.

Since coming to William and Mary, Miss Duffy has expressed delight at the friendly attitude that prevails on campus and the enthusiastic vigor with which students in her dance classes have applied themselves to the art.

Bridge, golf, swimming, and theatre music are among her hobbies. She utilizes Shakespeare and poetry as inspirations for inventive routines and looks for a closer integration of music and the Fine Arts.

First last and always dance is the prime motivation in Miss Duffy's life. Seldom has a teacher won the respect of her students in so short a time. She is the only one of three dance teachers here since Sept. '44 who combines dramatic effects with dance movements.

ed in." She later elucidated on this remark.

A graduate of Nasrath college in Louisville, Ky., with a BS degree in Dance, Miss Duffy entered NYU a year and a half ago and received her masters degree this June. While at NYU she taught at CCNY and this summer served as guest lecturer at the U. of Iowa.

While studying in New York Miss Duffy resided at the International House where she taught all forms of dance to interested foreign students. An amazing fact that came out of the experience was, natives from India were more conscientious about their dance style than any other race. Danes and Swedes preferred the

"I urge everyone to come to this first meeting," he stated, "because this is the year that members of the junior class will make plans and determine their policy, which will carry over to their senior year and their graduation."

At a meeting of the class presidents, held Tuesday, Oct. 1, plans were made to stimulate interest and to create friendly competition between the classes. These plans will be put before the junior class for approval and suggestions at the meeting tomorrow. At the meeting of the class presidents it was also decided that class banners for the four classes will be procured.

Hyle's Philosophy Embraces Sincerity, Straight Talk, Beer

By CAROLINE GEDDY

"I believe in sincere living, straight-from-the-shoulder talk . . . and beer definately has a place in my life," said Howard Hopkins Hyle when asked his philosophy of life.

Howie came to William and Mary in the fall of 1942, after believing for years that he would enter a northern college. He attributes his change of plans to the fact that a large group of his Catonsville, Maryland friends liked Williamsburg's seat of higher education. Now, as president of the student body, he has had little chance to regret his choice and has become a devotee of the Southern way of living.

During his freshman year, his goal was to enter the Episcopal ministry. Instead, he entered the army in the summer of '43. Assigned to the 84th Infantry Division, he saw fighting in Germany before becoming a prisoner of the Wehrmacht.

Rapid Rehabilitation

Ultimately liberated by the Russians, he was able to re-enter William and Mary for the spring semester of 1945. His living quarters that spring were in C section of Taliaferro Hall . . . and his association with the men in that section he terms one of the most important events of his college life, since they made his rehabilitation painless and quick. It was that spring which saw him change his major to economics and enter wholeheartedly into campus life.

Good-looking, friendly and eager to please, Howie is a six-footer who weighs 175 pounds and has blue eyes and brown hair. His favorite sport is lacrosse, which he played in high school. In addition to his present post as head of the student body, he has served on the Men's Honor Council, been tapped for ODK, and appointed a President's Aide. He is also a Kappa Sigma and proud of it.

He has definite opinions regarding student government: "It may be a small thing compared to the problems of the world, but we have to start meeting problems sometime, and there's nothing like practicing on the little ones of college life." He added that he would like to see a men's student government and believes that "an increasingly liberal approach is being taken towards women's social rules, although it is not always recognized . . . but it's still not like home."

After graduation, Howie plans to enter the business world until such time as he can go into the education field.

Senior President Changes Meeting

Roy (Dusty) Ash, president of the senior class, announced today that the class meeting, formerly scheduled for last Wednesday, will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 15, at 7:30 p. m. at the east end of the Sunken Gardens.

In case of inclement weather, the meeting will be held in Washington 200. Arrangements for the tug-of-war with the sophomore class have been nearly completed. This event will follow the class meeting and will be held on college corner.

Inter-Frat Raises Rushing Standards

Highlighting recent changes in the constitution of the Inter-Fraternity Association was the raising of scholastic requirements necessary for rushing and initiation by campus fraternities.

As announced by William (Bill) Norgren, president of the council, a student must pass a minimum of 12 academic hours and make a quality point average of .5 at mid-semester to be eligible for rushing. Under the new ruling, pledges must pass 12 hours, which may include physical education, and have a quality point average of .5, during the semester preceding the initiation.

In the same meeting, the council decided to contribute $20.00 to the Foster Parents Plan for War Children, Inc. Norgren termed this contribution "a positive action taken by the Council to help Europe's homeless war children."

"Prospective members should prepare a five-minute, informative speech on any subject," Carpenter declared. Immediate plans of the debating team include several home debates with other state schools, including the St. Helena division and the Apprentice school.

The national debate topic of Intercollegiate Debate councils throughout the country is "Resolved: That a Federal World Government Should be Established." Two out-of-state trips are planned for this year. The northern trip will include a debate with Harvard, the first competition scheduled with that college in several years.

The Hudson outfit can play either sweet or swing and occasionally throws in novelty numbers composed by some of its members. One such tune which brought down the house when the band made its last appearance in Williamsburg was entitled What's The Use Of Gettin' Sober If You're Gonna Get Drunk Again.

A graduate of the University of Florida in 1937, Hudson now records for Musicraft and Ace. In the past he has cut sides for Okeh and Bluebird. His first recording was an instrumental treatment of the tune which is William and Mary's alma mater.

"He never whistles — I can't decide if he's shy or playing hard to get."

Stewart To Hold Try-Outs For Band Wednesday Night

Band tryouts will be held tomorrow at 7:15 p. m. in the music building, Allan C. Stewart, director announced today. This will be the last opportunity for students who are interested in playing to join.

"It is too bad that we do not have a good band to support our team this season," remarked Stewart. "I will be glad to do anything possible to have a good band here, but we can't maintain one unless the students are willing to cooperate and join."

Only 30 students have applied. Fourteen are in the jazz band, leaving 16 for the marching band. "There should be enough players on campus for at least an 80-piece band," Stewart pointed out. "The ROTC has generously volunteered to help the band in drilling. During the year, the administration will allow the band to go on trips," he added.

VA States Rules For Re-entrance

"Veterans who drop out of college before completing their course will have to comply with more strict requirements to obtain a supplemental certificate of eligibility to re-enter school in the future, the Veterans Administration announced today.

Effective immediately, according to the VA, a veteran who, of his own volition, interrupts his schooling at a time other than the end of a term or semester, will not be issued a supplementary certificate until he has established satisfactory evidence (1) that his interruption resulted from good cause, i. e., illness, economic conditions, or other circumstances beyond his control; (2) that the institution which he was attending is willing to re-accept him as a student.

YWCA Will Select Treasurer At Meeting

Already nominated by the cabinet for the office are Eleanor Seiler and Jean (Johnnie) Wright, although further nominations will be accepted from the floor. The guest speaker for the occasion will be Dr. Edgar M. Foltin, head of the psychology department who recently returned from Europe. He will discuss "Political and Economic Factors in Austria Today."

A regular business meeting of the cabinet, consisting of YWCA officers and committee chairmen, was held today at the Kappa Delta house. The newly selected co-chairman of the social committee are Mary Moore and Jean Foote.
